

"Men are earning fortunes playing baseball and boxing... Why you chose fishing as your sport I'll never know!"

"Juno and the Paycock" Two Night Run Begins Fri.

Family strife, national disunity, shattering emotions — these were the heritage of the Irish in their struggle for independence in the early twentieth century. From these elements Sean O'Casey fashioned "Juno and the Paycock," which opens tomorrow in the Campus Theater of El Camino College. Presented as the theater's first summer production, the play deals with the Jack Boyle family of Dublin during the Irish rebellion.

DESPITE ITS grim setting, the play embodies the spirit of Irish humor which sometimes takes the form of satire, sometimes of broad and boisterous joking. O'Casey has combined the two to create a moving play full of contrasting emotions.

To direct the modern classic, El Camino drama instructor, Burnett Ferguson has acquired the services of Lucille Liberator. Miss Liberator, an El Camino graduate in 1958, has conducted several years of research of O'Casey's plays.

AS HER master's thesis subject, Miss Liberator directed and supervised production of O'Casey's "Shadow of a Gunman" at the University of Southern California, where she is currently studying under a scholarship granted by the National Collegiate Players. She is also working on a documentary series for CBS television as production assistant.

Assisting the feminine dramatist in bringing O'Casey's characters to life is a cast experienced in playing a variety of roles.

CAPTAIN Jack Doyle, the shiftless, swaggering Paycock, is played by Fred West, whose credits include several leading roles with the South Bay Civic Light Opera Association and major roles in productions of the Hampton Players in Redondo Beach and Morgan Theater in Santa Monica. West also toured for eight months as Lennie in "Of Mice and Men" with the California State Society, a professional acting group.

Gloria Newhouse as Juno Boyle, the wife who desperately tries to hold the family together, is a singer turned actress for this role. She has sung leading roles in "Oklahoma," "Elmer of Love," "Das Rheingold," and "Carmen." Currently enrolled as a theater arts major, Miss Newhouse hopes to use this role as a step toward a career in musical comedy and light opera.

JOHNNY BOYLE is played by Dennis M. Morgan, who will be remembered by many for his role as Romeo in the spring production of "Romeo and Juliet" at El Camino. Dennis has also played major roles in "Pygmalion" and "The Show Off" at Santa Ana College, plus several leads in plays at Inglewood High. He is currently collaborating on the writing of a musical comedy, the locale of which is Hades.

In the role of Mary Boyle is Kathleen Kosche, who won awards for her performance in "Inherit the Wind" and "Oklahoma" at El Camino to add laurels to those previously garnered at Mira Costa High School. Kathleen intends to continue her theater arts studies at USC.

Joker Daly, Boyle's drinking companion, is played by Kip Jun. Kip is well known to South Bay audiences for roles he performed for Hampton Players, Palos Verdes Players, and Chapel Theater.

THE SUPPORTING cast includes Tomye Black, Jack Meeks, Nadine Nichol, Ron Murphy, Pete Devaney, Gary Bradbrook, Jim Boughton, Victor H. Matson III, Mike Tandy, Phil St. Pierre, and Celeste Crawford.

The set, designed by director Liberator, was built by the stage crew of Les Thomas. Lighting, also designed by the director, is under the supervision of Bert Ayers. James Wilson is sound technician. Responsible for costumes are Michele Smith and Gayle Wilkins. Celeste Crawford and Paul Wilkening are in charge of props.

PLAYING FRIDAY and Saturday, the play begins at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be reserved at the El Camino Campus Student Store, Davis 4-6631, or may be purchased at the door. Admission price is one dollar.

Savings Firms Display Falcon

American Savings and Loan Assn. savings headquarters in 13 Los Angeles and Orange Co. locations are displaying the feature attraction of their July transfer promotion — a 1961 Falcon Futura, to be given away to some lucky winner. Also as a special bonus to the winner, free gasoline for a year, if he is a savings account holder. Registration for the Futura is open to the public without obligation at any American Savings branch, said Executive Vice President Lowell Peterson.

The July promotion, coinciding with one of the year's highest business peaks in the savings and loan field, is traditionally one of the biggest for American Savings. Plans for this July, said Peterson, continues the accelerated trend of American Savings' promotional activities occasioned by 1961 business gains, and anticipate new increases for the year ahead.

As in previous year American Savings' savings headquarters are offering free appreciation gifts at this time for new savings account holders or added savings.

The July transfer period, he explained, is the period at the halfway point of the year when savers re-appraise their financial holdings and determine what money to re-invest.
